Leaving a Gift to the Trust in Your Will

Suggested wording to include the Trust in your existing Will

If you already have a Will talk to your solicitor or legal advisor about including a gift with a simple codicil to the existing Will or you can use the codicil form overleaf.

Directions

1. Complete the codicil form.
2. Sign your name in the presence of two independent adult witnesses. No beneficiary or executor of your Will (or any person in marriage or civil partnership with a beneficiary or executor) should be a witness.
3. Ask your witnesses to complete the witness section and then sign in your presence. All must be present at this point.
4. You should then date the codicil opposite your signature where indicated.
5. Keep your Will and codicil together in a secure place, but do not attach the codicil to your Will, for example, with a paperclip as this can cause problems later.
6. Give a copy of your Will and codicil to an executor or close friend, with a note detailing the location of the original. It is important to ensure both the original Will and codicil remain together.
